

Daigo Sato

Professor at Musashino University's Faculty of Entrepreneurship

Born in Osaka in 1973. Started a business while studying at Osaka University's Faculty of Law, but later dropped out. In 1998, he founded the NPO Dot J.P. and operated internship programs for companies, politicians' offices, embassies, and other NPOs. Over 45,000 students have participated in these programs, with over 180 of them becoming active politicians. In 2010, he brought the world's largest donation website, JustGiving, to Japan (it was later acquired by LIFULL Group and then transferred to Trust Bank in 2019), and helped it grow into Japan's largest donation website. In 2021, he became a professor at Musashino University's Faculty of Entrepreneurship, where he focuses on nurturing future entrepreneurs.
